FADE IN:

EXT. CAMINO NUEVO CHARTER ACADEMY - NOON

BYRON, an amateur skateboarder with a dedicated YouTube following is putting together his latest skateboarding video with his friend CRISTIAN. Byron is skating down the middle of the street and Cristian is following him with the camera at ground level. Byron Jumps a small roadblock.

CRISTIAN
alright! cut. Sweet man. YouTube will love that one.

BYRON
Dude, I've done that a million times. I need something new. I need to go big, man. Do something no one has ever done. But What?

CRISTIAN
You already nailed almost every trick in the book, what else can you do?

Byron, clearly frustrated walks over and sits down on the steps in front of CNCA. Cristian sits down next to him and starts playing his footage back for himself. Byron ignores it and starts to examine the stair ledge, trying to come up with something.

CRISTIAN
Come on man, I know you can think of something new. Just skate around for a while. Clear your head.

BYRON
(depressed but in agreement)
Alright, lets see what I can come up with. Hopefully something worth filming.

He skates back and forth, doing Laser Flips over hedges and Feeble grinds on flat bard. Then he stops.

BYRON
(Smiling at Cristian)
DUDE! I got it.

Cristian readies his camera as Byron starts to skate toward the CNCA steps.

BYRON

Alright, This is gonna be epic! how about this --

Byron is interrupted as his skateboard rides over a tiny pebble and his wheels grind to a halt. He flies off the skateboard rolls down the street.

CRISTIAN

Ah hahahahah!, I thought you were gonna do a trick! YouTube will love that. What do you call that one?

BYRON

Argh. Shut up man. help me up I think I broke something.

CAMERA ZOOMS OUT AND WE SEE THAT THE VIDEO WE WERE WATCHING
IS ON YOUTUBE. TITLED "THE BIG SLIP." IT HAS OVER A MILLION VIEWS.

CUT TO BLACK.
